

Admissions Orientation

Date : January 8th 2020(Wed) 13:00~14:00 (12:30- OPEN)Venue : 2F 204 Lecture Hall, Graduate School of Environmental Studies (J22),
Aobayama New Campus(青葉新キャンパス 環境科学研究科本館(J22) 2階204 大講義室)

Prior registration not necessary.

The International Joint Graduate Program in Resilience and Safety Studies (GP-RSS, commenced Spring 2019), is a constituent program of Tohoku University's initiatives in international education. As we seek students to join our April 2020 cohort, The GP-RSS invites you to attend our bi-annual program information session. This information session is open to all prospective students and faculty wishing to supervise students intending to apply to our program.

■ Admission Pre-requisites : <http://gp-rss.tohoku.ac.jp/en/recruitment.html>

MC (and early stage Ph.D. 博士前期課程) applicants in their first semester or beyond as of October, 2019; and DC students who will begin their first semester as of April, 2020.

【Tohoku University Graduate Schools Participating in The GP-RSS】

The Graduate School of Environmental Studies, School of Medicine, School of Engineering, Graduate School of International Cultural Studies, Graduate School of Agriculture, International Research Institute of Disaster Science (IRIDeS)

■ Financial Support: Research Assistant Fee and Travel Bursary, etc.

■ Application Acceptance: January 9th, 2020 (Tues) - January 31th 2020 (Fri)

* Please inquire with the GP-RSS Office if you have any questions regarding eligibility. DC-entry students are required to contact the Office prior to application if they are submitting an application to The GP-RSS.

 Students from IRIDeS must have a supervisor within IRIDeS.

■ Contact :

International Joint Graduate Program in Resilience and Safety Studies (GP-RSS)
Headquarters, 468-1 Aramaki-za-Aoba, Aoba-ku, Sendai, 980-8572
Graduate School of Environmental Studies
Main Building 5F 501 gprss@grp.tohoku.ac.jp
022-752-2238, 2278 (96-2238, 2278)
<http://gp-rss.tohoku.ac.jp/>

